EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

MADISON, Wis., May 22, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without approval, bill No. 279, A., entitled,
"An act to amend section 4398 of the statutes, relating to the use of abusive, lewd, lascivious or obscene language."

The statute sought to be amended by this act reads as follows:

“Any person who shall assault another, when not excusable or justifiable, or who shall use in reference to and in the presence of another, or in reference to and in the presence of any member of his family, abusive or obscene language, intended, or naturally tending, to provoke an assault or breach of peace, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than three months, or by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars. * * *”

This statute was enacted with the idea that by providing a punishment for one who assails another with abusive or obscene epithets, assaults and breaches of the peace would often be prevented.

The object sought to be accomplished is commendable, and has accomplished, to some extent at least, the desired purpose.

This act works a radical change in this statute. Under it the language may not be intended, or naturally tend, to provoke an assault or breach of the peace. It need not be said in the presence of the person against whom it is directed, nor need it refer to any person, and yet it is made a misdemeanor.

Any abusive language used in a public place renders the user of it subject to a criminal prosecution on complaint of any person, whether he be present at the time or not. If one in a public place uses abusive language in reference to another, he may be arrested and punished, even though what he says may be true; while, if he should be sued in a civil action for slander for making use of the same words, he could allege and prove their truth in his defense.

It is unjust and dangerous to attempt to punish as a crime abusive words regardless of the question of their truth or falsity. The word abusive is synonymous with reproachful, scurrilous, opprobrious, insolent, insulting, injurious, offensive, and reviling. It is evident, therefore, that the word is capable of an extensive application, and that it is of too extended meaning to find a place in such a statute as the one proposed.

Our constitution wisely provides that every person may speak freely his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and that no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge that liberty.

By punishing all who may use any abusive language in a public place, regardless of the intent or circumstances under which the language may be used, comes dangerously near abridging that liberty.

This act is also objectionable on account of its tendency to promote vexatious criminal actions by those who desire to use criminal process to punish for slander. Slander has never been punished criminally in this state. If it is to be so punished, then the truth of the alleged slanderous words should be a defense in analogy to the statute in civil actions.

This bill, as originally introduced, would have met my approval, as it provided a punishment for the use of lewd, obscene, or lascivious language in any public place.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

MADISON, May 24, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith bill No. 288, A., entitled, An act to create section 1897k of the statutes, relating to the organization or dissolution of domestic insurance corporations."

Section 1 of the act provides that after January 31st, 1910, no domestic mutual insurance company shall pay to any member upon dissolution dividends in addition to insurance benefits promised in the policy any sum in excess of payments made by him, with interest at six per centum compounded annually.

Subsection 2 provides that upon dissolution of such corporation, the property and assets held by it in excess of its liability, and of the amounts which may be paid to its members under subsection 1, shall be paid into the school fund of the state as a license fee charged to such corporation upon dissolution.

Section 2, among other things, repeals section 1942—1. A critical inspection of this act leads to the belief that its provisions, in most respects, were designed by its author to apply to the affairs of 'The Germantown Farmers' Mutual Insurance company. It is well known legislative history that several attempts have been made in recent years in behalf of that company to procure legislative assistance in respect to the disposition of a large surplus accumulated by it during the past fifty-five years. In 1903, chapter 229 was passed for that purpose, but the act declared unconstitutional by the supreme court as an attempt to confiscate the property of the policyholders on the ground that it impaired the obligation of contracts, deprived the policy-holders of their property without due process of law, and denied to them the equal protection of the laws. I refer to the case of Huber v. Martin, 127 Wis. 412, where some interesting information may be obtained upon the subject under consideration.

The corporation referred to had on hand, as shown by its report for 1908, assets amounting to $284,449.69, which, according to the decision of the court in the case referred to, belongs to the present policy holders, but which could not at the time of the decision be distributed except by voluntary action on the part of the corporation, by dissolution or in accordance with some law. At the time the decision was rendered, there was no statute compelling distribution of the funds accumulated by such corporations. At the session of 1907, and after the decision in the Huber case, section 1942—1 was enacted which provides:

"All the surplus of any domestic mutual fire insurance company, doing business on the mutual plan in excess of two per cent of the total amount of its outstanding fire risks, shall be distributed annually pro rata among the members of said company, within sixty days after the holding of its annual meeting, provided such total surplus shall equal or exceed three per cent of the amount of such outstanding risks."

Although nearly two years have elapsed since that statute was enacted, distribution has not been made by the corporation. Recently the matter was brought to the attention of the insurance department by a policy holder of the corporation. Attorneys for the corporation appeared before the commissioner and contended that the statute did not apply, as the corporation was issuing policies on the stipulated premium plan. The commissioner submitted the question to the attorney general for his opinion, and that official held that the statute applied to the corporation, since it was, in fact, a mutual fire insurance company. A suit is now pending, brought by a policy holder against the corporation, for the purpose of recovering his equitable share of the surplus based on the provisions of section 1942—1 repealed by this act.

I have called attention briefly to these facts as I am convinced that your honorable body has been misled in regard to the real purpose the act is designed to accomplish. I am convinced of this for several reasons, the first of which is that the original bill introduced by Mr. Hoyt was one designed to reach an evil that exists or was feared might be resorted to, by which policy holders could be driven out of such corporations by refusal on the part of its officers to renew their policies where they had expired, and where a large surplus had been accumulated in which the policy holder had an interest. The present act is a substitute to that bill, and bears no semblance to it whatever.

It should be noted, also, in this connection that, while the bill repeals section 1942—1, providing for a distribution of the surplus of such corporations, no mention of that fact is disclosed by the title of the act. It purports to create a new section of the statute, but it also repeals the section referred to. It violates rule 46 in this respect, and as this bill was passed in the ordinary way by reading of the title, it is apparent that members may have been misled as to its provisions.

The real purpose of this act is:

First: To get rid of the statute compelling distribution of the surplus of the corporation referred to.

Second: To tie up the surplus to January 31, 1910, a period of eight months.

Third: If at that time the corporation dissolves, to compel such of the policy holders as have not yet become weary or fallen out, or as have not yet been refused a renewal of their policies, to accept as their share of the profits, at the option of the corporation, what each one has actually paid in, with interest, while, by law, he is entitled to his equitable share based on the amount of his own contributions to all accumulations prior to his time, and such as may have been added thereto during his membership, as held in the Huber case.

Fourth: To make it appear that the school fund of the state will be benefited by the confiscation of the policy holders' profits, which cannot occur unless the corporation quits business and dissolves, which it is not at all likely to do. And for the further reason that the section is unconstitutional and void.

It has been settled in this state that a statute enacted during the life of a mutual insurance company providing for the distribution of its assets or bestowal thereof upon another, without consent of all its members, no authority in that regard being contained in the charter of such company, offends against that provision of our statute forbidding the legislature to pass laws impairing the obligation of contracts, and that of the national constitution as regards depriving a person of his property without due process of law, or denying him the equal protection of the laws. As to corporations formed in the future such a provision would be valid, but this act affects such corporations now in existence, and is, therefore, invalid. The same rule holds good as to subsection 1, which proposes to deprive policy holders of a part of their property.

As subsection 2 only requires the property and assets "in excess of liability," less amounts paid to members, under section 1 to be paid into the school fund, it is quite apparent that a court might hold that outstanding contracts of insurance are liabilities, and that the school fund, in that event, would not be swelled to any appreciable extent.

As applied to the corporation for whose benefit this act was passed, it appears that at the close of the year 1908 the net amount of insurance in force was $2,424,506.

An apparent attempt is made in subsection 2 to avoid illegality by making the payment to the school fund a fee charged to such corporation upon dissolution. All corporations organized under any law of this state may dissolve voluntarily, as provided by section 1789, and, therefore, this attempt to single out mutual domestic insurance corporations and to charge them a license fee for a privilege accorded to all corporations by general law, would, no doubt, be invalid as unjustifiable class legislation, and even if it did not also, as this act does, attempt to confiscate the property of the policy holders.

For the reasons stated, I return this bill without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,

Governor.

Mr. Kubasta moved that the reading of the executive communication be dispensed with, and that consideration be deferred until Thursday's session.

The motion prevailed, and

It was so ordered.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATION.

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
Executive Chamber.

MADISON, Wis., May 21, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, bill No. 34, A., entitled, "An act to create subsections 12 and 13 of section 758 of the statutes, relating to the register of deeds."

This act provides that the register of deeds shall notify the grantee of any defects in an instrument rendering it inadmissible to record. It provides that when the register of deeds shall receive an instrument not entitled to record, he shall index the same, and unless the person offering the same for record shall cause such instrument to be removed from the office he shall record the same, after ten days from the receipt thereof; that during the ten days mentioned the defective instrument shall constitute a notice, the same as if fully recorded.

It is bad policy to authorize or encourage by law, loose methods in transferring titles to real estate. Certain formalities are required, not only for the purpose of making a record of real estate transfers permanent and accessible for the information of the public, but to protect the owners of real estate against fraud and forgery. In order that an instrument, transferring an interest in real estate, shall be entitled to record, it must be signed by the grantor in the presence of two witnesses, and acknowledged before an officer authorized by law to take acknowledgments. This act, if it becomes a law, does away with the necessity of any such formalities. A deed is entitled to record, although not witnessed or acknowledged, and the act constitutes it a notice for ten days before it is actually recorded at length, on the records in the office of the register of deeds. It, in fact, repeals, by implication, the provisions of the statute which require the acknowledgment and the witnessing of a deed before it is entitled to record.

I cannot see my way clear to give my approval to this act, which revolutionizes the law relative to the recording of instruments affecting the title to real estate.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATION.

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
Executive Department,

MADISON, May 28, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Legislature:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the report of the legislative visiting committee, appointed by the governor, as directed by statute 562—b of the Wisconsin Statutes, to visit the state charitable and penal institutions and to report thereon.

The report evidences that the work has been performed with great care by the committee, and I commend it to your careful consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,

Governor.

To His Excellency, The Governor:

Your committee, appointed under the authority of chapter 562b of the statutes of 1898, begs leave to report as follows:

We visited all the state charitable, reformatory and penal institutions under the control of the state board of control. We believe that the people of the state have good reason to feel proud of their charitable, reformatory and penal institutions and the manner in which they are conducted.

The charitable institutions of the state are the following: The state hospital for the insane at Mendota, the northern hospital for the insane at Winnebago, the state public school at Sparta, the home for feeble minded at Chippewa Falls, and the Wisconsin workshop for the blind at Milwaukee.

The reformatory and penal institutions include the following: The state prison at Waupun, the state reformatory at Green Bay, and the industrial school for boys at Waukesha.

The educational institutions under the state board are the school for the deaf at Delavan and the school for the blind at Janesville. The state public school at Sparta also furnishes educational facilities but that institution cannot be termed a strictly educational one, the purpose of the institution being to receive dependent and neglected children and care for them until such time as they can be replaced in proper homes. Some of the children who are undesirable remain in the institution for an indefinite time, the management not being able to place them in homes because of their undesirability.

STATE HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.

This is the first institution created in the state for the treatment and care of the insane. It was established in 1861. At the present time it has a population of 625 inmates. The original buildings provide only for about 450 inmates but during the last few years the institution has been enlarged by the building of a dining room with sufficient capacity to seat all the inmates who are able to go to the dining room. Before the building of the new dining room there were several dining rooms on the wards. Those dining rooms have been converted into dormitories which increased the capacity of the institution about 150 more than it was before the building of the new dining room. The institution was found to be in excellent shape except that there are a number of improvements required. An investigation of the interior part of the institution shows that everything is kept in excellent condition and that the patients are well cared for. The new plumbing system which has just been installed has materially improved the institution and makes it very much more sanitary.

The old power house has become dilapidated and is almost beyond repair. It will be necessary to construct a new power house at an early date. The power house is not properly located and it will be almost as expensive to put it in proper repair as to construct a new one. We recommend that provision be made for a new power house and that an appropriation of $30,000 be made for that purpose.

There is also necessity for new horse and cow barns. Since the institution has been increased in capacity it is found necessary to increase the number of cows and the present capacity will not permit an increase. There is not sufficient barn room for any increase and some of the barns that exist now are badly in need of repair or rebuilding. We recommend that appropriations be made for increasing the barn capacity and it is estimated by the state board of control that $6,000 will be necessary for that purpose.

In passing this institution we desire to say that it seemed to be well managed in every particular. The exterior as well as the interior seemed to be kept in excellent repair and there seemed to be a disposition upon the part of the management to increase the efficiency of the institution and make it one of the modern institutions for the care of the insane.

NORTHERN HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.

This institution was visited in company with some of the members of the board of control and some of the members of the legislature who were not members of this committee.

The institution is under the management of Doctor W. A. Gordon, superintendent. Everything was found to be in excellent condition. The northern hospital was the last institution built by the state for the treatment of the acute insane. It is well equipped, has all the modern appliances, turkish, electric and shower baths, etc. The institution had about 630 patients at the date of our visit. The buildings are arranged much more conveniently than at the state hospital at Mendota for the reason that the institution is much newer and was, at the time it was built, a modern institution.

The state board of control recommends that a building be constructed upon the grounds of the northern hospital for the segregation of the violent and criminal insane and that an appropriation of $100,000 be made for that purpose. We discussed the matter with Doctor Gordon, the superintendent of the northern hospital, and after getting such information as we were able to get from him and from the state board of control and from other sources, we are of the opinion that provision should be made at the northern hospital for the care of the violent and criminal insane, thereby relieving the northern hospital, the state hospital and the county asylums of the state of these classes of insane. We found upon investigation that the violent and criminal insane are a menace to the inmates of the institutions in which they are now located and that they are very dangerous to both the inmates and to the employees of these institutions.

The board of control and Doctor W. A. Gordon have also recommended that two new cottages for male and female employees be erected at the northern hospital and that an appropriation of $50,000 be made for that purpose. We found upon investigation that it is almost impossible to keep employees in the hospitals for the reason that they have to live in the institution and that their rest is so frequently disturbed at night by the noise of the patients, that the employees of the hospitals are constantly changing on that account.

We found upon examination of the northern hospital for the insane that new floors will be required in several of the wards and the board of control estimates that it will require $1,500 to put in new floors. We recommend that an appropriation be made for the two cottages and also for the floors.

SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF.

The committee visited this institution in company with some of the members of the board and some other members of the legislature.

This is one of the oldest institutions in the State. The main building was constructed in 1879, and the institution has facilities for teaching 250 pupils. It is equipped with all the modern appliances necessary for the instruction of the deaf. The course of study is similar to that of the public schools and there is a high school department in connection with the institution. Various trades are taught, the principal one being that of printing. At the time of our visit to the institution there were about 200 pupils. The institution is under the management of Prof. E. W. Walker, who has been in charge for a number of years. He is considered an expert in the training of the deaf. Practically all the teaching force must have special training before they take employment in an institution of this kind.

We found upon investigation that since the opening of the institution in 1852, one thousand three hundred seventy-one pupils have been under instruction. Most of these have secured instruction sufficient to enable them to earn a livelihood and some have become experts at the printing trade. During the last biennial period a dormitory building, an industrial building and a new stable have been built at this institution. The additional buildings have very materially improved the facilities for instruction and have enlarged the capacity of the institution so that it will probably be able to meet the requirements for some time. Although most of the buildings are in good condition and everything pertaining to the management was found to be very satisfactory, there are still a number of improvements necessary to make the institution what it should be. The old manual training building should be remodelled, there should be an additional school house, the chapel should be repaired, there should be an extension to the boiler house, and new boilers are needed. The coal-shed should be enlarged, the dormitory for the boys should be remodeled, there should be additional water supply, there should be a bowling alley and there should be additional forges in the shops. The amount estimated by the state board of control for all these improvements is $58,900 and this committee endorses the recommendations of the state board of control.

SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND.

The visit to this institution was somewhat of a revelation to the members of this committee. It was the first opportunity any of the members ever had to visit a school for the blind and become acquainted with the methods of teaching the blind. We made a thorough investigation of this school and are free to say that the visit was educational to the committee. This school is under the management of Mr. Harvey Clark and seems to be well conducted in every department. At the time of our visit there were about 90 pupils in the institution. The blind children are taught by the raised letters system. This is the only means by which the blind can be educated. Generally speaking the buildings are in good repair except that the industrial building requires a new roof, the porches of the main building must be rebuilt and new laundry machinery must be installed in the laundry. There is also necessity for an isolation hospital and for new cement walks. The board of control also finds that it is necessary to purchase a large number of new books and that four new pianos are needed. Piano tuning is one of the chief occupations of the blind and it is therefore necessary that they be taught to play the piano and acquire a certain musical education. Many of the graduates of the school for the blind become excellent piano tuners.

We are of the opinion that all the appropriations asked for by the state board of control should be made. They amount in all to $8,800.

WISCONSIN INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

This institution was found at the time of the visit of the committee, to have a population of 365. It is under the management of Prof. A. J. Hutton, and is well conducted. It is an old institution; it was established in 1860. The buildings are arranged on the cottage plan and many of them lack the modern appliances. It was found upon examination of the records that since the institution was opened, nearly 5,000 boys have received training in it. A large percentage of the boys who have taken a course at this institution, have become useful citizens, and the institution has done much towards making good citizens of boys who otherwise would have become criminals and a menace to society.

At the present time, the institution is crowded to its utmost capacity. The admissions into the institution are larger than they have ever been before, and it will be impossible to receive boys and retain them for the proper period unless the capacity of the institution is increased. There should be two additional dormitories built, which would cost approximately $40,000; that would increase the capacity sufficiently to take care of the boys that are received for a number of years. There also should be a new industrial building which would enable the management to teach the boys a variety of trades, and that building and equipment would cost about $12,000.

The following improvements are recommended by the board of control, and this committee endorses the recommendations: Creamery, extension to tunnels, ventilating system for cottages, silo, additional cow barns, equipment for printing office, telephone system and new walks.

Everything around the institution seems to be well cared for. The interior as well as the exterior of all the buildings were in good condition. Everything around the institution was clean; the discipline seemed to be excellent and all the officers in charge of the boys seemed deeply interested in their work and seemed to be an intelligent and efficient set of officers.

WISCONSIN STATE PRISON.

At the time the committee visited this institution it was found to have a population of nearly 700 convicts. The management is in the hands of Henry Town, the warden of the institution, who seems to be a very efficient officer. While the prison has received so many people who are so far advanced in crime that reform seems almost impossible, the results in that direction have not been discouraging. Many of the men leave the institution to become useful citizens. We made a careful inspection of the whole institution. The discipline is excellent. Everything around the institution was perfectly clean. The old cell wings are of course not modern, but they were in as good condition as it is possible to put them. The new cell wing which has been recently completed is one of the best prison cell wings that there is in the country. It is modern and has all the modern conveniences and is as sanitary as any cell wing can be made.

The binder twine building which was authorized by the legislature two years ago was found to be completed, and a large amount of the machinery for the binding twine plant has been received at the institution.

The new chapel is nicely equipped and is found to be very convenient in holding services, etc. The night school in which instructions are given to those whose education has been neglected and foreigners unable to read and write the English language is bringing about good results.

The parole system authorized by the legislature two years ago is working very satisfactorily. We are advised by the management that about sixty convicts have been paroled since the law went into operation, and that there have been but two or three violations. Nearly all of the convicts placed out on parole are doing well. Under the parole law, the state is relieved of the burden of caring for these convicts. They are enabled, not only to care for themselves, but many of them are earning money which they are sending to their families and others are earning money which will materially assist them after their term of sentence has expired. There seems to be necessity for a parole officer, and this committee recommends that the state make provision for a parole officer for this institution.

We would also recommend that the educational department be enlarged. The woman's prison has been very materially improved and enlarged, and that branch of the prison will be adequate for the demands upon it when the present improvements are completed. It will require about $4,000 to complete it.

The old cell wings of the prison should be remodeled and made modern in their conveniences. There are no closets or lavatories in the old cell wings, and they are inconvenient and unsanitary. The board of control has recommended that the sum of $70,000 be appropriated for the rebuilding of the two old cell wings, and we endorse that recommendation.

STATE PUBLIC SCHOOL.

This institution was opened for occupancy in 1885. The institution was created for the purpose of acting as a sort of clearing house, where dependent and neglected children can be received and cared for until they are placed in proper homes.

At the time of our visit to the institution there were about 170 inmates. The institution employs three agents who find homes for the children and place the children and visit and look after them after they are placed until their guardianship is released by the state.

Since the opening of the institution more than 3,000 children have been received and placed in homes. The children placed in this institution are neither insane, feeble minded, or incorrigible. They are healthy, normal children, who are dependent upon the state or upon the public for their care. Children coming to the institution are often in an unfit condition to be placed in homes. Lack of home comforts and care and neglect of their morals make it necessary to have them retained in the institution until these matters are corrected before they would be desirable children to be received into a home.

Prior to 1905 no infants could be received into the institution. The legislature of that year enacted a law giving the institution the right to receive infants, and that has materially increased the number of admissions into the school. It has also made it necessary to employ additional agents. Prior to the passage of that act only two agents were employed, but at the present time there are three, one male and two female agents.

There are also five teachers employed giving instruction in the ordinary branches, and the kindergarten, also domestic science, where cooking and sewing is taught the girls.

There is no manual training department in the institution for the boys. There is not a workbench where they can learn the use of tools. There is nothing for the seventy-five restless little fellows to do during the summer vacation. The present assembly room is up a long flight of stairs in the administration building, occupying space that is needed for dormitories.

The state board of control recommends that a girl's cottage, costing approximately twelve thousand dollars, and an annex to the baby's cottage, costing approximately five thousand dollars, be built. They also recommend that the chapel be turned into bed rooms; that the third floor in the hospital be completed; that fire escapes be installed and that a ventilating system be put into the institution. They also recommend repairs to the bakery and assembly building, plumbing in cottages, tunnel, extension to stock barns, bridge across the river to a piece of land that should be occupied for pasture, new fencing, and that a telephone system be installed, and that additional cows be purchased for the institution. We endorse all these recommendations.

WISCONSIN HOME FOR FEEBLE MINDED.

This is the largest institution in the state. At the time of our visit there were about 800 patients and when the new dormitories, which have just been completed, are filled there will be a population of more than a thousand.

The institution was opened for occupancy in 1897. The wisdom of the legislature that created this institution is to be commended. An institution of this kind should have been created many years before it was. If such an institution had been established earlier there would be fewer feeble minded people in the state than there are to-day. A careful estimate of the feeble minded of the state shows that there are about 4,000 of that class of defectives.

This institution is now completed according to the original design. The inspection showed that everything was in excellent condition. It is under the able management of Doctor A. W. Wilmarth, who for years before he became the superintendent made a study of mental defectives and who is one of the best equipped men in this country to have charge of such an institution.

We are advised by the state board of control and the superintendent that there are about 500 applications for admission to this institution who cannot be received because of lack of room. Another institution for the care of feeble minded should be created at an early date. Under the existing conditions no male person can be received into the home for feeble minded at Chippewa Falls who is over thirty years of age and no female who is over forty.

The institution is greatly in need of a hospital and an additional school house. The state board of control recommends that a hospital building costing approximately $30,000 and a school house costing approximately $25,000 be erected and we are of the opinion that these additions should be made. There is also necessity for a new wing to the large concrete barn which will cost approximately $6,000 and we believe that it would be wisdom upon the part of the legislature to provide for all these additions.

WISCONSIN STATE REFORMATORY.

This institution was opened for occupancy in 1898. One center wing has been completed and a large shop building has been built. A temporary stockade has been constructed and a new power house has been built. The power house at the reformatory is the best power house erected at any of the state institutions. It was built entirely by the boys of the institution, who made the brick, did all the laying of the brick and all other work connected with the building except the preparing of the finishing lumber. The boys also made the brick from which they constructed a smoke-stack 158 ft. high. The rear portion of the center or administration building is now being built by the boys. All the granite necessary for the completion of the institution has been delivered and is now being cut, by the boys.

There is great necessity for additional room at this institution. The capacity of the institution is 296 and it frequently happens that boys who are convicted for some offense, and sentenced to the institution have to remain for considerable time in the jails of the state awaiting room for admission into the reformatory. The reformatory is doing a magnificent work and most of the boys who pass through this institution become useful and respectable citizens of the state. Every boy who is committed to the reformatory is given some knowledge of a trade before he leaves there which enables him to secure employment after he is released.

The institution is well managed and everything seemed to be in good condition. The state board of control has estimated that it will require an appropriation of $30,000 to complete the balance of the center building and that it will require $20,000 for the walls of the new wing. The board also recommends that an elevated water reservoir be built and that $2,000 be expended in the equipment of the school rooms.

We believe that provision should be made for all these improvements.

WISCONSIN TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM.

This is an institution for the treatment of incipient and pulmonary tuberculosis and is the last institution built by the state. The site is well selected. In most respects the topography affords an excellent protection to the buildings from the north and northwest winds.

The buildings so far as they have been constructed appear to be well planned for their purpose, but some buildings essential to the successful operation of the institution are still lacking. The administration and refectory buildings are planned to provide accommodations that will be necessary when the number of patients has increased to 150.

Shacks in which quarters are provided for the patients can at the present time only accommodate about eighty. There is a steadily increasing waiting list. Several difficulties have arisen in the management of the institution because of lack of the necessary buildings. At institutions of this kind there are always some bad cases. For these no provision has yet been made. Such cases have to be cared for in the reception and living rooms of the administration building thus causing crowding in the officers' quarters and improperly exposing the officers to great danger from infection.

The state board of control has carefully considered the question of additions to this institution and recommends that an infirmary costing approximately $15,000, shacks costing approximately $18,000 and amusement hall costing approximately $8,500 be built. They also recommend the installation of a bakery and additions to the refectory, an extension to the coal shed, a cottage for employes, and a reservoir for the water supply and that an appropriation for grading, planting, etc., be made. All these recommendations have the unqualified endorsement of this committee.

The institution has only been in operation since November, 1907, but during the period it has been in operation a number of persons have been sent home as cured and a large number have been sent home very materially improved.

In conclusion we desire to say that we do not believe that it is wisdom upon the part of the state to exercise any false economy. The state is certainly justified in spending liberally for necessities both immediate and those sure to come in the near future. It should be exempt from criticism even if taxes are levied, because it is economy to buy now and the taxpayers' property is increasing in value all the time. The taxpayer can better at least as well afford to pay taxes now as in the future.

The institutions of the state are models of their kind and are so recognized throughout the country. To keep them so will require liberal expenditures of money. A willing expenditure would be warranted surely when the people know the necessity to insure wholesome growth of these institutions. Any false economy in neglecting to spend all the money needed at the present time, would bring retrogression.

It would be a stroke of inspiration if this legislature could wake up to the requirements along these lines and give the people now an increase of taxation, if necessary, without waiting to be forced with increased expense in the near future to do the things then that should be done to-day.

Let us cease to be politicians or would-be statesmen and as business men conducting a business enterprise the same as we would for ourselves, do the right thing now. The state is not a corporation with officers duty bound to produce dividends on stock this year or next, but dividends in service and substantial results for many years to come. That there should be such present necessity for expenditure of money for repairs, new buildings and lands for these state institutions is surprising. The situation is not one-half understood by the ordinary citizen of this state. The growth of insanity, criminality and degeneracy is appalling. There should be preventive laws passed, but the situation demands the immediate and continued care by the state of these unfortunates. To foster, by neglect of duty the passage and enforcement of laws concerning these matters, would be unfortunate.

Liberal appropriations are now required as a matter of economy as well as necessity. Much land is needed in connection with many of these institutions, and the state certainly can never purchase it cheaper than at the present time. The recommendations of the board of control in this respect should at least be granted. Liberal expenditures now will save the making of much larger ones in the near future.

The committee suggests the repeal of the present law requiring the governor to appoint a visiting committee to these institutions, and recommends that a law be passed requiring the committee on claims during the first weeks of the session to visit all of these institutions.

Respectfully submitted,

PLEA FOR THE DOOR COUNTY PARK.

The park has more to it than a mere pleasure resort. Well directed pleasure is the best tonic ever used if taken in the open air. There is no place on God's footstool more appropriate for preserving good health and for those who are unfortunate enough to have their health impaired. In the proposed Door county park, such as these will find a Mecca. The state is bound by traditional training to care for the unfortunate of its citizens; the monotony of many people's existence has caused them to lose their minds. Two months of the year in the proposed Door county park, when it is made safe for people of all classes and sexes will teach people to forget the dreary, lonesome life circumstances compel them to live. On account of the surroundings of this natural beauty spot, it is not only a healthful location for man's body, but will, with some artificial trimming become an educational center for the student of the state—not only of the state but of the nation, just as soon as its location becomes known. In one direction lies Lake Michigan with its brave blustering breezes filtering through the cedars, pines, hemlocks, and many others of different varieties. Those of the delicate portion of humanity who cannot stand Lake Michigan in July can turn their backs to the great lake and face Green Bay with its gentle breezes of invitation to all to go for a sail on its beautiful waters.

For all of those privileges and many more not enumerated, the state of Wisconsin is asked to contribute the small sum of $75,000. With that amount contributed by the state we can appeal to the lovers of humanity to contribute to put the park into respectable shape to be used for the good of humanity. There are many men in Wisconsin who would be glad to help financially if the state takes the lead.

The state of Wisconsin has before it the opportunity to give to the people of the state a public playground. A state park in Door county would be of an inestimable benefit to the people of this commonwealth for many reasons.

It is a spot that will afford a breathing place for the people crowded together in the more densely populated cities—people that cannot afford to go to the high priced summer resorts. A man with only a few weeks vacation can take his wife and children to this garden provided by nature, and away from the dust and filth of the city, they can breathe in the clear, pure, invigorating air fresh from the waters of Green Bay, or the breezes from Lake Michigan wafted through the forests and scented with the perfume of the balsam and the pine.

I recently had occasion to visit some of the cities in our state, and I noted in the boarding houses the evidences of consumption in the faces of many of the workmen, and I thought how countless numbers of these men and the women working in the factories and the shops of the cities might be given a new lease of life if they could be given a few weeks, in the heat of summer, where they could fill their lungs with the cool, pure air, fresh from the lakes and the forests. Granting that the state of Wisconsin might see fit to provide tents or other accommodations for the poorer people, to accommodate them, would it not be better to do so, to keep them well and healthy and useful citizens, rather than to wait until they became helpless and then provide for them at sanitariums?

Many people are today in our sanitariums, hospitals and asylums, insane and feeble minded, and weak in bodies, as well in mind, because they could not endure the monotony of their existence. A place where they could have gone, if only a few weeks in the year, at a moderate cost, where mind could have met mind; where people of different ideas could congregate and converse, and go back to their homes refreshed by the change with the thoughts of others carried with them, we would possibly have a less number in our asylums and sanitariums, and the state would be the richer by so many more useful citizens, and richer in the knowledge that it had made an effort to help its people while they were well and to keep them so.

It is hardly necessary to dwell upon the beauties of the region. Suffice it is to say that any one who has driven over the picturesque drives, lined with nature's shrubbery; who has gazed upon the mighty balsams and pines in all their mighty majesty, and who has inhaled the perfume of their breath; one who has seen the flitting deer in the distance, those beauties of the forests, who has stood and gazed at the calm waters of Green bay, dotted with its islands, like gems in a sea, and who has been conscious of the abrupt and stately bluffs arising from the waters beneath; bluffs with their faces carved into fantastic shapes by the wash of waters and the knife of time; conscious of the rolling waters of Lake Michigan in the rear, and of the dim lines of the shores of Wisconsin and Michigan in the distance; one who has stood at any of the innumerable spots on this park site where he might enjoy and be conscious of these things, must indeed have thought, "Here, truly, lies Nature, in all its beauty."

This effort to possess this region for the enjoyment of the people is not a new one. It is as old as the region itself. For if you have heard of the indian traditions of that part of your state, you will have heard of how the inhabitants of the north and of the east, wishing to be the proud possessors of a home so grand, came in their canoes, hundreds of them, to conquer or to die. And the tradition relates how the inhabitants of this unsurpassed hunting ground, unsurpassed in beauty as well as game, meeting the enemy in their boats on the open waters, fought them to a finish, until by the deadly work of arrows, and the interference of the great spirit, who caused a storm to rise, and the waters to roughen, the attacking forces were annihilated. And these waters are called Death's Door—the door which is the passage between the waters of Lake Michigan and Green bay, and upon which now sail the peaceful ships of commerce.

Let the state of Wisconsin give to its children this vast playground, where the old, and tired, and worn may grow young in spirit and rested in body, nursed by the purity of Nature's medicine, and where the young may romp and their bodies grow strong among the wonders of scenic beauty.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATION.

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
Executive Office.

MADISON, May 28th, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

In compliance with joint resolution No. 105, A., I herewith return bill No. 220, A., for the purpose of amendment.

Respectfully,

J. O. DAVIDSON,

Governor.

MEMORANDUM TO BILL NO. 220, A.

There is a mistake in subsection 5 of section 1363n, and the reference to section 1365 should be 1363. The bill, however, needs amending in other particulars to make it constitutional, as it makes no provision for trial by jury where property is taken under the section.

Subsection 4 should be amended by inserting after the word "the" and before the word "damages" the words "cost of construction and."

The committee on Banks and Insurance report and recommend:
Jt. Res. No. 29, A.,

Resolution with the report of the sub-committee appointed to look into this matter.

M. J. CLEARY,
Acting Chairman.

To the Joint Committee on Banks and Insurance:

Your sub-committee, to whom was referred Joint Resolution No. 29, A., respectfully beg leave to report:

That they have had the same under consideration, and have examined into the charges referred to in said resolution and have also made an examination of books and records in the office of the commissioner of insurance.

The first charge relates to the licensing of companies by the commissioner without the examination provided for in the statutes, in general, and cites the case of the Interstate Live Stock Co., of Seattle, Washington, in particular.

Section 1915, subdivision 1, provides, "The commissioner of insurance, before issuing a license for the admission of any corporation or association, shall make a personal examination of the affairs and financial condition thereof, and if found to meet the conditions and requirements of law shall issue such certificate of admission." It appears from the records, that the said Interstate Live Stock Insurance Co., in the month of January, 1907, opened negotiations and later made application for admission to Wisconsin. That this company was admitted by the department on April 19, 1907, and a certificate issued at the personal direction of the commissioner of insurance. It further appears that no examination of said company was made until Sept. 11th, 1907, or five months after its admission to the state.

The examination of the company on Sept. 11th shows that its total assets over liabilities amounted to $635.19 and included in this is $1,288.22 worth of 30 and 60 day notes and also $209.90 in premiums in course of collection. It is very doubtful if this company was solvent at the time of examination.

About 30 days after this examination by the commissioner, the company went into the hands of a receiver and Wisconsin policy holders suffered a loss because of the insolvency of the company.

Section 1966—54 of the Wisconsin statutes provides that "Corporations of like kind as provided for in the four preceding sections organized under the laws of any other state or foreign country by complying with the provisions of the laws governing casualty corporations, and by depositing with the state treasurer $2,000, in securities to be approved by the commissioner of insurance may be admitted to transact business in this state under the provisions governing like corporations incorporated in this state."

This company had not deposited the $2,000 required by this section at the time it was admitted or examined and never deposited it. If this provision of the statutes had been enforced it is probable no loss would have been occasioned to Wisconsin policy holders in this company. The fact is that this company at the time of its admission according to its statement filed with the department of insurance did not have $2,000 worth of assets to deposit.

The commissioner of insurance admits that it was customary in his department to admit companies and issue licenses before the examination required by the statute was made.

CHARGE 2.

This charge relates to fees charged by the commissioner in examining companies. Your committee can only report with regard to this matter, that there is a fair legal question involved.

CHARGE 3.

This charge is not reasonable.

CHARGE 4.

In this charge the commissioner is alleged to have mutilated records in his office. Your committee finds that tax schedules were extracted from the record books of the office by the examiner for the purpose of assisting them in the examination of companies, in verifying the reports of the companies as to taxes due to the state.

CHARGE 5.

Relates to the employment of agents of the insurance companies in the examination of companies. Section 1968 of the statutes prohibits this in the following language: "The commissioner shall in person or by some one to be appointed by him for that purpose not an officer or agent of, or in any manner interested in any insurance corporation doing business in this state, except as a policy holder, examine, etc." Your committee finds that Charles Barker while acting as agent for an insurance company doing business in this state was employed by the commissioner of insurance to examine certain companies contrary to the provisions of said section.

Respectfully submitted,

E. T. FAIRCHILD,
M. J. CLEARY.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED.

Res. No. 45, A. By Mr. Stack.

WHEREAS, At the beginning of the present session the Hon. James O. Davidson, governor of the state of Wisconsin, transmitted to the legislature a communication in writing and documentary evidence relating to certain charges filed with him concerning alleged unlawful acts on the part of the commissioner of insurance, his agents and employes, and

WHEREAS, It is recommended in said communication that such charges are of sufficient importance to receive consideration by the legislature of the state of Wisconsin, the legislature not having acted thereon, and

WHEREAS, Sworn charges and admissions have been made before the Joint Senatorial Primary Investigation committee, that past and present heads of other state departments, their employes and agents have indulged in corrupt, and unlawful acts, using state money for political and partisan purposes, and otherwise corrupting the electorate of this state, and

WHEREAS, Sworn charges and admissions have been made regarding the alleged corrupt and unlawful use of money in securing offices within the gift of the people of the state of Wisconsin, and

WHEREAS, An investigation should be had for the purpose of ascertaining the facts with reference to such alleged corrupt and unlawful acts, and malfeasance in office, for the purpose of correcting such abuses, if found to exist, by proper legislation.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, That the speaker of this assembly be and is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint a committee to consist of five members of the assembly for the purpose of investigating the charges referred to in the governor's message, together with charges of corruption alleged to have been practiced in other departments and by past or present officers or employes of the state, or elected thereby, and that said committee so appointed shall have full power to examine all books, records, papers, and files of said insurance department and other state departments, and to compel production thereof and to subpoena and examine witnesses, administer oaths, and take testimony, and to make such examination regarding any other matters included or not included in this resolution which in the judgment of the committee might properly be investigated by them as an aid to legislation, and to conduct the examination in such manner as they may deem necessary to the end that a full, fair, impartial, and thorough examination shall be made covering such matters as the said committee deems it advisable to investigate, and to report to the assembly the result of such investigation together with such testimony as may be taken by said committee, and to make such recommendations as they may deem advisable and proper in the premises at a special session of this legislature, and that the governor be requested to include the reception of the report of this committee in the call for a special session of the state legislature.

CORRECTION OF THE JOURNAL.

The journal of yesterday was approved.

Mr. Bray, on behalf of the assembly, presented Speaker Bancroft a beautiful gold watch and chain.

Mr. Bray said:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Assembly: The closing days of the forty-ninth session of the legislature are at hand. After five months of almost continuous labor in behalf of the people of this state, we are now about to return to the farm, the store, the office and the home to take up our accustomed duties. We have all of us devoted the first half of this year to what we have believed to be for the best interests and the welfare of a'l the people of this state, and we shall most of us now have the opportunity of devoting the next six or seven months to our own individual affairs before we meet again in special session next winter to finish our work and carry out to a final and successful completion, if possible, the pledges and promises we have made by platform and otherwise to the people of the state.

After the special session, many of us, judging from the history of the past, will leave this beautiful chamber and these scenes of our well intended activity to return no more. It has been the political history of the state that generally less than half the members are returned by re-election. Some of us will not want to come back; and some will be unable to. For those who do seek to return I can only say that I hope, as I know all do, that you will be successful. We shall all of us be anxious to see one another again, I am sure. It will be a great source of pleasure to greet each other and talk over old times at every opportunity.

Whether or not we meet again in the future, the time has come to think over and review what we have done in the past; and no matter what anyone's individual record may be or how well satisfied he may be with it, we shall none of us become so old or so forgetful that we shall cease to recall and remember the incidents of importance and interest of this session. And in any event, we must all realize that our experience here has been fruitful of much good, to ourselves at least.

Mentally and morally, we are all of us richer for our experience.

Mentally the stimulus of contact with other minds has been broadening and educating. It has developed in us an ability to think quickly with power of expression, as well as affording great opportunity for study of the problems of the day.

Morally our experience in the legislature has been a great training. It has taught self-control, patience, unselfishness, kindness, and consideration for others. It has developed in us strength of character to resist improper influences and to guard against acting at any time from motives inspired by fear, malice, prejudice or dishonesty. We have been taught the sacred duty of a public servant to the people by whom he has been placed in a position of trust.

But dearer and better than any of these things have been the opportunities we have had to make acquaintances and friendships that we shall never regret and that we shall always love to remember and continue. There is no member within the sound of my voice, I am sure, who has not made some very dear friends and some very happy acquaintances here, and the memory of this association will continue to be a source of pleasure and gratification to him for evermore.

When the bitterness of strife and defeat has been worn away and forgotten and the petty wounds of combat have become healed, pleasanter memories will remain. This is always true and it is one of the most charming and fortunate things about all experiences of life.

No matter how short our memories may be or how soon we may forget each other as we drop one by one from the political arena and below the horizon of life's activity, there is one among our number whom we shall never forget. One figure stands forth so strong, dominant, and powerful; one personality has impressed itself upon us so forcibly; one man has been so staunch and true and constant that he can never be forgotten or his influences ever cease to be with us. It is to this man particularly that I wish to direct my remarks at this time. I want him to know the love and friendship as well as the high regard and esteem we have for him. I want him to know our respect for him. I want him to know that we honor him. I want him to know that we admire his great ability and foresight. And last, but not least, on behalf of the members of this assembly, I want to thank him as sincerely and earnestly as it lies in my power so to do for the great service he has rendered us and the people of this state by so ably directing and assisting in the sacred performance of our duties.

As a token of our great friendship and esteem, I have the honor to present at this time as an appreciation of his services to this assembly a slight remembrance to our presiding officer, The Honorable Levi H. Bancroft.

The speaker made a feeling response, thanking the assembly for this token of their esteem, and for their co-operation in the work of the session.

The speaker declared that never in the history of the state, had there ever been an assembly composed of men more conscientiously devoted to the interests of the state, than that over which he had the honor of presiding.

STATE OF WISCONSIN,

Executive Chamber.

MADISON, WIS., June 9th, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, bill No. 329, A., entitled, "An act to amend paragraph 3 of section 1212 of the statutes, relating to the assessment of railroads."

After ten years of agitation and public discussion as to the proper method of taxing railroad property, chapter 315, laws of 1903, was enacted. Under it each railroad in the state is assessed as a unit and the average rate of taxation of the general property of the state is applied in the levy of the tax. The tax thus levied against the railroads is paid into the state treasury and is the most important source of state revenue. It has made a tax to defray state expenses unnecessary under normal conditions. After long and expensive litigation it has received the approval of the courts. We should not expose the state to further litigation and possible loss of revenue by introducing questionable changes.

Our supreme court has emphatically endorsed the present law, and especially those parts of it which treat the entire property of a railroad company as a unit and apply to it the average state rate of taxation. The court has, at least impliedly, condemned such a plan as that contained in this act—dividing property in its nature and entirely into different parts for taxation purposes.

The terminal properties which this bill proposes to segregate from the general railroad property are, in many instances, as essentially and vitally a part of the railroad and necessary to the public service as any part of the main track, but the bill as presented has gone so far as to strike out from the bill, as originally introduced, the words “not exclusively used by the railroad in the operation of its business.” So that under this proposed act an essential part of a railroad although used exclusively for railroad purposes and absolutely necessary to efficient public service may be severed from the main body and subjected to local taxation at the local rate.

The unity or indivisibility of property devoted to the public service, and especially that devoted to the railway service, was fully considered by our court when chapter 315 of the laws of 1903, was challenged by the railroads in the case of Chicago & North-Western Ry. Co. vs. The State, 128 Wisconsin 553. I desire to quote the language of the court in that case as indicative of what the views of the court are likely to be if the proposed legislation becomes a law; and unless otherwise indicated, my citations are from the opinion of the court in that case.

The court said in part:

“This court has held that the franchise is the principal, the visible things the minor, part of an organized business machine, in a corporate organization, though the franchise is seen only through the physical part and its use; that the intangible part is personal property and draws to it, and so impresses the physical thing with its own character as to give to the whole the character of personalty."

After citing numerous cases and as the last Washburn vs. Washburn Waterworks Co., 120 Wis. 575, the court continues:

"In the latter case it was supposed that this particular subject would be definitely set at rest for all purposes of administration of public affairs in this state, this language being used for that particular purpose. 'The separate value of the parts in the aggregate would not necessarily approximate to or be any legitimate measure of the value of all the parts, viewed as one complete machine, so to speak. The franchise by itself would be valueless. The plant in its parts as realty and personalty according to the character thereof, irrespective of the combination of all into one entire thing, might be of little value, and probably would be, as compared to what they would represent in the new form, produced by the union of many parts into one. The great value is produced by the combination of parts into one complete working machine, adapted in a high degree to the service of man. . . . So, in order to deal justly in the distribution of public burdens, the entire property in use and for use in the exercise of the public franchise, for the purposes of taxation, should be regarded as realty, the franchise and movables being viewed as appurtenant to the lands, or the intangible element regarded as personalty, and the physical elements, consisting of lands and movables, be regarded as appurtenant thereto and partaking of its character. The latter . . . is the most consistent with, and really demanded by, the constitutional method of imposing public burdens in the form of taxation, as regulated by the legislation of this state.'"

Applying this language of the court to the bill in question and keeping in mind the fact that the tax commission in assessing the more valuable railroad properties frequently places its valuation much above that of the physical properties, there is at least great danger that much of the value now assessed will be entirely destroyed for taxation purposes if the property is divided into separate and distinct parcels as is contemplated in this bill. Segregated parts are of little value. As a part of an entire thing they are of great value.

Our railroad system serves the entire state and draws revenue from all sections, even those most remote from its tracks. The farming population contributes far more to the earnings of railroads than does the city population.

If cost of transportation is a tax, and it certainly partakes of that nature, then the rural population is taxed far heavier in its maintenance than the cities. The farmer sells his products in the world's markets, receiving as compensation the price in those markets, less the cost of transportation to them. The price of what he buys is fixed at the factory with transportation added to the local railway station. The farmer pays the cost both ways. He certainly should have the full benefit of whatever tax is contributed by the railroads to aid in carrying the public burdens.

But this bill reverses the process. It proposes to take the most valuable terminals away from the general system and give whatever public revenue they yield, not to those who pay most of the cost of transportation and make our large railroad systems possible, but to a few favored cities. What must necessarily follow? An increase in the state tax. This again falls most heavily on the rural districts. On this subject the report of the tax commission of this year shows that in two counties, (and they may well be taken as indicative of the general rule) where valuations were reviewed by the commission, $72 of merchants' and manufacturers' stock escaped taxation to every $35 of personal property on farms.

The railroads draw their support from every part of the state, but the freight must come principally from the country where it is produced. The city creates nothing. It only transforms that which the country creates. The revenue from the railroad tax should, therefore, in justice, remain the common heritage of all the people of the state, and no more just method of attaining that end can be suggested than to turn this tax into the state treasury as is done at present, and thus relieve all the people of the state from the necessity of a state tax.

In the case referred to the court, as showing not only its own views on this important question, but the views of the courts in the country generally, on page 673, used the following language:

"With one accord the courts say, every railway system is a unit, absolutely indivisible for the purpose of determining the value of the parts, the aggregate of such values to be that of the whole; that it is a thing so utterly different 'from every other species of property that the discriminations made as between them and other corporations and individuals in the method or instrumentality by which the value is ascertained are justifiable.'" Chamberlain v. Walter, 60 Fed. 788.

"Commonly it is said, valuation on the unit theory is necessary to the very object of the constitutional requirement of uniformity. Why does not the same reasoning, logically, require the value when once ascertained also to be treated as a unit, by applying thereto the average rate of taxation imposed upon all other property taxed by the ad valorem method in the state, instead of dividing it on an artificial basis into a multitude of parts, not much, if any, less unlikely to represent the actual value of the system in the respective taxing districts than valuations by local assessors, each appraising that part of such system found, as indicated by the visible part thereof, in his district?"

On pages 674 and 675, the court says:

"In the natural order of development the last states to adopt the ad valorem system for taxing the special property took the unit plan for valuing such properties, so universally conceded to be essential, and took it entire, rejecting the distributive feature, which seemed to be manifestly inconsistent therewith. The idea indicated in the new order of laws is to value each railway property as one thing and on the same basis as other taxable property is valued, and to tax it on the same basis as such other property is taxed, throughout the state and as to each taxing district through which the road runs, as near as the same can be reasonably ascertained, keeping the results in the state treasury, upon the theory of a constructive accounting between the state and every taxing district which, in any reasonable view, would be entitled to any part thereof under the constitutional rule of uniformity. All upon the theory that, in practical effect, by so doing each dollar of every kind of property prescribed for direct taxation in every taxing district throughout the state would thereby be made to contribute to its constitutional proportion of all taxes, state and local."

And on page 676:

“There can be but little doubt, it would seem, from a careful review of the decisions in the federal circuit courts, but what the system embodied in the law before us were regarded by such courts as a distinct advance from the old method, in the line of that uniformity commanded by the constitution, and that such view was approved by the federal supreme court. It appears that the better way to promote that equality and justice to all, which the constitution guarantees, is to maintain the integrity of the unit system in its entirety in treating railway property for taxation, which we find after a most careful study of all the attacks upon it, to stand the test of the constitution at all points.”

Can there be any question from the language just quoted that our highest court would have grave doubts as to the constitutionality of any act which taxes part of a railroad property under a state assessment and at the average tax rate of the state, and another part of the same unit of property locally and at the local rate, or at different local rates?

Since this decision by our court the highest court of New Jersey has passed upon an act of the legislature of that state very similar to the proposed legislation. The legislature of New Jersey, in 1906, attempted to divide railroad and canal properties into four parcels, and to provide that three of such parts should be assessed by a state board and taxed directly by the state, and that the fourth part should be assessed and taxed locally for the benefit of the several taxing districts where located. This act was held to violate the provision of the constitution that “property shall be assessed for taxes under general laws by uniform rules according to its true value.” United N. J. R. & Canal Co. vs. Parker, 69 At. Rep. 239.

I have not undertaken to estimate the amount of revenue the proposed legislation would take from the state treasury. Whatever loss the state would suffer would have to be made up by a general state tax. The bill, in plain words, is the equivalent of a direct appropriation of money of the state to a few cities having important harbor facilities on the great lakes. There seems to be neither logic nor equity in favoring a few cities on our borders at the expenses of all the rest of the state. Neither does the argument that these cities furnish fire and police protection appeal to me, for the same protection is afforded railroad property in every city and village of the state which is not so fortunate as to be situated on one of the great lakes. Why, for example, should Milwaukee, Kenosha or Racine enjoy such special privileges denied to La Crosse, Madison, Janesville, Eau Claire, Wausau, Oshkosh and every other interior city and town? The present law is just to every city, village and country district. It discriminates against none. It has no favorites.

The act is discriminatory and if not dangerous on constitutional grounds, it at least tends to invite further attempts to divide up and segregate such property for taxation purposes. If grain elevators, coal, ore and merchandise docks are to be taxed locally, why not freight and passenger depots, machine shops, depot grounds and many other things connected with the railroad, and of some local value. Considering, as I do, that the act is unjust as well as a dangerous experiment, I must decline to give it my sanction, and, therefore, return it to you in the hope that upon further consideration you will agree with me that it is not best to launch the state upon another period of taxation agitation.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,

Governor.

On motion of Mr. Ingram,

Further consideration of the executive communication was deferred until tomorrow.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED.

Jt. Res. No. 115, A. By Mr. Roethe.

Providing that the legislature shall rest from its labors.

WHEREAS, There seems to be absolutely no sentiment among the people or crying demand for a special session of the legislature, the people of the state apparently being satisfied to have the consideration of the subjects which it is proposed to have acted on at a special session deferred till the next legislature meets, and believing that the interests of the commonwealth will not suffer materially but perhaps rather be advanced by such postponement; and

WHEREAS, The people think that all needed legislation, of which there is generally too much, and not too little, can be enacted at regular sessions of the legislature, and do not look with favor on the calling of special sessions, and the expense they necessarily incur; and

WHEREAS, It is justly to be feared that the unfortunate estrangement existing between the two houses, and the evident purpose to play politics, will be instrumental in making the special session last almost as long as the regular one; and

WHEREAS, This legislature has already been in session for a period of five months, greatly exceeding the ordinary length of a session, and regardless of what its achievements or non-achievements have been, or whether they bestow praise or censure, the people seem to be agreed that five months have been enough to devote to legislative work, and that the members be now permitted to return to the quiet of their homes to enjoy their constitutional privilege of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, be it

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That the action of this legislature, by resolution or otherwise, providing for special committees to consider various subjects of legislation after adjournment, and requesting the governor to call a special session to act on their recommendations, be and the same are hereby rescinded and the legislature now rest from its labors.

Read, and

Adoption refused.

On motion of Mr. Cleary,

Mr. Schoetz was accorded the privilege of the floor, and spoke as follows:

Mr. Speaker, Members of the Assembly and Mr. Chief Clerk: The pleasant duty of appearing on this floor to present our chief clerk with a token of the esteem in which he is held by the subordinate clerks of the assembly of the state of Wisconsin has fallen to me. Would that I were blessed with the silver tongue of you, Mr. Speaker, or of any of the members of this assembly who have had so much practice during the past five months. However, having been the chosen one to present this token, I shall endeavor to do the best I can.

What an efficient speaker is to you, members of the assembly, an efficient clerk is to us, your clerks. You have heard the praises of your speaker and well deserved they have been. I shall now tell you something of our chief clerk.

Mr. Shaffer, our chief clerk, has been a most efficient master. He has been a friend of us all without discrimination. By reason of his long experience in legislative work, he has been of inestimable help to every one of us. Whenever confronted with a difficult problem in legislative procedure or any other problem for that matter, Mr. Shaffer has been ever ready to lend his helping hand. He has always been courteous, kind and affable, even so during the heavy rush of business incident to the closing days of the session when one is likely to be on his nerves.

As a token of our esteem I herewith present to you, Mr. Shaffer, on behalf of all the clerks of the assembly, this ring. Not with the idea that this little token represents all our good wishes for you do we present this gift; but we want this token to bring to your memory in after years a pleasant remembrance of the good will and esteem in which you are held by the clerical force of the assembly of the Wisconsin legislature for the year 1909.

The chief clerk responded as follows:

As was said by the speaker last Saturday, "There are times when silence is more eloquent than words;" I believe that time has come. Mr. Schoetz, I appreciate your kind words and sincerely thank you, and through you, the boys who contributed to the purchase of this beautiful gift. I have felt a pardonable pride in the efficiency and faithfulness with which each one of you has performed his duty, and this ring will ever be a reminder of the perfect harmony and good will which has obtained during this session. The months spent with you I shall record in my book of pleasant recollections, and in the future will refer to them often. I again thank you.

Speaker Bancroft said he desired to concur in all that had been said of the chief clerk, and to say that "this assembly has had a most efficient chief clerk and I a most useful right-hand man."

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

On motion of Mr. LeRoy,

The reading of the communications was deferred until to-morrow morning, after they had been ordered spread upon the journal.

JUNE 12th, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, bill No. 380, A., entitled, "An act to amend section 4520 of the statutes, relating to boxing contests and exhibitions."

This bill re-enacts the provisions of our statute providing a punishment by imprisonment in the state's prison of not more than five years, nor less than one year, or by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars for "any person who shall, by previous arrangement or appointment, engage in a fight with another person for the possession of any prize, belt, or other evidence of championship, or for any other cause."

This bill amends the statute by permitting:

1. Boxing contests by male persons over eighteen years of age in cities of the first, second, and third class, when conducted by an incorporated and licensed athletic club, where the contestants wear gloves of not less than five ounces in weight, and where no belt, stake, prize or other valuable consideration is contingent upon the winning or losing of the contest.

2. The common council of any such city may grant licenses to not more than one club in any one month to conduct and hold boxing contests or exhibitions.

3. Such contests to be held on a date named in the license.

4. A bond is to be given to the state in the sum of one thousand dollars conditioned that the applicant will conduct all contests and exhibitions in an orderly manner, and will observe and obey the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city.

5. That no intoxicating liquors shall be sold on the premises through such contests.

6. That no betting or wagering shall be allowed on the premises where any contest or exhibition is held.

7. That no contests shall be held on Sundays and certain legal holidays.

8. That no person shall participate in such contests unless he shall present a certificate of a resident physician that he is in fit condition.

9. That a physician shall be present continuously during a contest, and shall have authority to put a stop to it whenever he may deem it advisable because of the physical condition of any contestant.

These are, concisely stated, the terms of the proposed amendment of the statute. At the outset it must be admitted that the provisions of the act do not permit a prize fight within the ruling of the courts, under such statutes as our own. There is nothing legalized which may not be lawfully accomplished without legislative sanction. There is and can be no valid objection to athletic contests of the kind named in the act, when properly conducted as exhibitions of physical skill. My objection, however, to this legislation is based on the fact that to license and regulate such exhibitions by express law will place in the hands of the prize fighting profession, and their adherents, the means and opportunity of evading the provisions of the statute designed to prohibit prize fights and punish those engaged in them. It surrounds boxing contests with all sorts of legal formalities under which they must be conducted. This is really the vice of the measure, for it makes all such contests presumptively legal, while beneath the surface and outside of legal forms, there may be a bet, wager or other evidence of championship. Who can tell, when one of these contests takes place, what bets, prizes or championships are at stake? Only one element is wanting to make a legal contest an unlawful prize fight, and that is the bet or wager or other evidence of championship.

The participants meet by previous arrangement. The gloves worn by the contestants are the regulation weight used in the prize ring. The participants may be professional prize fighters, for there is nothing in the act which confines it to amateurs. The exhibition may be widely advertised in the public press. Large fees for admission may be charged, and all the elements of a prize fight except a bet or wager may be in evidence, and this may readily be supplied without fear of detection.

The passage of this act would, no doubt, bring into this state a large number of the prize fighting fraternity, it would no longer be necessary to resort to the islands of the sea in order to carry on such contests, for all such would be conclusively presumed to be legal until the contrary should be proved. On the soil of our fair state under forms of law prize fights might take place to the lasting disgrace of our people, for it could never be known in advance of the exhibition just what the nature of the contest would prove to be.

Being of the firm conviction that this act can accomplish no good purpose, and that its moral influence on the youth of our state will be pernicious, I must decline to give it my official approval.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

JUNE 12th, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, bill No. 467, A., entitled, "An act to amend chapter 66, laws of 1897, relating to the salary of the county judge of Racine county."

This act provides that after the first Monday in January, 1910, the county judge of Racine county shall receive an annual salary of $3,200 to be paid in monthly installments, until otherwise fixed by the county board.

It also repeals section 1 of chapter 66 of the laws of 1897. This chapter now fixes the salary of the county judge of Racine county, at the sum of $2,500 per annum. I am unable to understand why it is necessary for the legislature to provide, by a special act, for the fixing of the salary of the county judge of Racine county, to take effect in 1910.

The only reason discoverable, for the passage of this act, is based on the provisions of section 664, which provides that the salary of a county officer shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office. Legislative interference in fixing the salary of county officers of particular counties is one which does not meet with the favor of the people of the state.

A learned judge of the supreme court of this state, in 1876, said:

"Legislative history points and sanctions the policy of the constitutional provision, to limit public officers to the very compensation at which they take office, to put their compensation beyond legislative interference, and to save the legislature from their importunity, and the treasury from legislative discretion in their favor."

This language was used in reference to that provision of our constitution which prohibits the legislature from increasing or diminishing the compensation of public officers during their terms of office. This act does that very thing, but since the salary of the county judge is not paid out of the state treasury, this act does not violate that provision of the constitution. The principle, however, is the same and is recognized by that provision of section 664, before referred to, prohibiting the increase of a county officer's salary during his term.

By this act the legislature has attempted to increase the salary of the county judge of Racine county, now in office. Aside from any constitutional objection, the policy of so doing is a bad one. It is unjust to tax payers and an unauthorized interference with local self government. The legally constituted authorities of that county are much better able to judge of the adequacy of the salaries of its officers than the legislature can possibly be.

I am advised, also, that, in fact, this act is unconstitutional and void, under that provision of our constitution which guarantees a uniform system of town and county government. Our court has said of a similar act:

"It would be a strange uniformity which, for grave ends of public policy, should absolutely place the compensation of county officers beyond control in some counties, and subject it, in violation of such policy, to control in other counties. It is not a question of the amount of compensation. It is a question of mischievous control over compensation."

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

JUNE 11th, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, bill No. 710, A., entitled, "An act to create sections 1363m and 1363mn of the statutes, relating to issue of bonds by towns for drainage purposes, and to sale of dredging machines by towns."

This act provides for the issue of bonds where the cost of construction of a drain, ditch, or enlargement of a water course by a town, city or village shall exceed $2,000. But the provisions of the act make it uncertain as to whether the bonds are to be town, city or village obligations or whether it is intended that they shall be special bonds, payable only from a tax upon the lands assessed for benefits under the drainage law.

Section 5 provides that the bonds shall become due in the same manner as the assessment benefits become due, not to exceed ten years, in equal payments with interest thereon not to exceed 6 per cent. per year, "to be added by the town, city or village clerk of every town, city or village containing lands assessed for benefits." If this provision is intended to require the town, city or village clerk to enter the amount necessary to pay the bonds on the tax roll and assess the same against the lands benefited, it is very indefinitely stated. If the bonds are intended to be obligations of the town, city or village, then the act is void, as it contains no provision for the levy of a tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds as they fall due, in accordance with the constitutional provision.

Believing that the act is so indefinite as to be useless, I return the same without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

JUNE 11, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, bill No. 848, A., entitled, "An act to amend section 1966---38 of the statutes, relating to premium on official bonds."

This act provides that the state, any county, town, village, or city, may pay the cost of any official bond furnished by an officer, if said bond shall be signed by a surety company authorized to do business in this state.

The statute sought to be amended by this act limits the cost not to exceed one-eighth of one per centum of the amount of the bond, except as to bonds furnished by county officers which may be fixed by agreement between the county board and the surety company.

The bill in its present form is an unlimited appropriation of the public funds of the state, county, town, city, or village, if the provisions of the act are intended to be mandatory and compel the payment of the cost of such bonds furnished by an officer. If it is not mandatory, it is equally objectionable since no officer of the state or municipal authority of the county, town, city or village is vested with any discretion as to the sum which shall be paid or allowed for such bonds. There should be some limit placed on the amount which may be paid, as it is not safe to leave the amount to be appropriated out of the public treasury to be regulated only by the necessities of the official and the ability of the surety company to fix exorbitant rates.

Respectfully submitted,

J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS AND CONSIDERATION THEREOF.

JUNE 11, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, bill No. 589, A., entitled, "An act to amend subsection 7, of section 1772 of the statutes, relating to the recording of articles of incorporation in the office of the register of deeds, and providing for the publication of the same."

This act is returned for the reason that it is practically a duplicate of bill No. 390, A., which has already been approved and filed in the office of the secretary of state.

It, however, contains one additional provision not found in bill No. 390, A., providing that the certified copy of the certificate of the secretary of state, showing the date when such articles were filed and accepted shall be published, at the expense of the corporation, in a newspaper published in the county where the articles of incorporation are recorded, such newspaper to be designated by the register of deeds. This seems to be an unnecessary expense, and one which will subserve no useful purpose, since the certificate and articles are made matters of public record both in the office of the secretary of state and in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the corporation is located.

Bill No. 390, A., which has been approved, contains one provision not found in this bill, providing for the fee to be paid by corporations "organized for the business of preparing for market, storing and selling products of the farms of members of such corporation." That provision is not contained in this act, and if this act should be approved, it would repeal that part of No. 390, A.

Respectfully submitted,
J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS AND CONSIDERATION THEREOF.

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
Executive Chamber.

JUNE 17th, 1909.

To the Honorable, the Assembly:

I herewith return bill No. 889, A., entitled, An act to create section 1976c of the statutes, relating to rebates and commissions in writing insurance.

The act reads as follows:

"No person, officer, broker, agent or sub-agent holding a certificate of authority under section 1976 from any fire insurance corporation licensed to do business in this state, shall become liable to the penalty imposed by sections 1976, 1976m or 1943—1 by reason of paying or receiving, or promising or agreeing to pay, or receive the whole or any portion of any commission or payment made for writing any policy of insurance to any other person, officer or broker, agent or sub-agent, holding a certificate of authority under section 1976 from any other fire insurance corporation licensed to do business in this state."

There is no penalty prescribed by section 1976. This section was amended by chapter 116, laws of 1909, approved May 12, 1909. Under the amendment made by that chapter a penalty is provided. The same section was again amended by chapter 290, laws of 1909, approved June 3rd, 1909, and the penalty clause omitted.

There is no section 1976m, referred to in the bill, unless it has been created by some act of the present session, which I have been unable to discover.

Section 1943—1 of the statutes, was created by chapter 159, laws of 1909, and provides that no insurance company, doing business in this state, other than a life insurance company, and no agent, officer or employee thereof, shall offer to pay or allow, or agree to pay or allow, as an inducement to any insurance, any rebate or premium paid or payable under its policy, or any special favor, advantage, benefit, valuable consideration or inducement whatever, not specified in its policy. It will be seen, by referring to this section, that it does not prevent insurance agents or insurance corporations, coming within the purview of the act, from dividing commissions with other corporations, or the agents of other corporations, if it sees fit to do so.

There is, therefore, no useful purpose for this act, and as it is incorrect in referring to sections containing no penalty, I return it without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,
J. O. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

No. 889, A.,

A bill to create section 1976e, of the statutes, relating to rebates and commissions in writing insurance.

The vote was as follows:

Ayes—None.

Noes—Messrs. Bray, Busacker, Grosse, Hambrecht, Ledvina, Peterson and Mr. Speaker—7.

Absent or not voting—Messrs. Atwood, Ballard, Barnett, Berner, Bichler, Bradford, Brew, Brockhausen, Buslett, Cady, Benj.
